Scuba diving is an exciting but calm activity that can introduce children to the magic of the underwater world. Diving can increase confidence through new experiences and it can be a valuable learning experience. The open water course contributes to the Duke of Edinburgh course and diving is a great opportunity to develop wider skills and apply knowledge in a practical and fun way.

Children must be aged 8 or older and a medical form and parental consent form must be completed in advance. Children who are unable to dive can participate in snorkelling.

Paul is a highly experienced dive instructor and educator; Maryse is an experienced dive instructor and practising teacher. We are both DBS checked.

We offer a range of experiences for children to enjoy scuba. These sessions can be offered as activity days, for sessions for the late summer term or for a summer school. They can also be run weekly to support curriculum planning. Indicative prices include pool hire so if you have your own pool let us know and we can adapt prices accordingly.

- Bubblemakers: A one off taster session for children to try diving. Held in a local pool children are introduced to key skills and then taken underwater to try the sport. £20 per child with a minimum of 12 students. This can also be run as an after school activity.
- Seal Team: A weekly session for children to build on their skills and achieve SEAL team status. £20 per child per session (minimum 5 sessions and 12 students).
- A one day workshop for children including a Bubblemaker session sandwiched with two classroom sessions learning about different aspects linked to the national curriculum: how the equipment works, effects on the body, the underwater world. We can tailor these to your specific learning requests and we can add in numeracy and literacy aspects too. £40 per child for the full day for the first 10 children; £15 for each subsequent child (maximum 30). Please get in touch if you have a larger group.
- Learning through diving: a combination of classroom based lessons (see the dedicated information sheet included) with the option to add in diving. These sessions can be run flexibly: one afternoon, a series of sessions, or a full day session. Get in touch with your individual needs.
- Open Water (PADI) 5 confined water sessions (in a swimming pool) followed by two days in open water (variety of locations available including Godstone, West London, Snodland and wider afield). £400 per participant with a minimum of 4 participants (min age 15)
